Patricia Lovett-Reid, Senior Vice President of TD Waterhouse Canada Inc. is one of Canada's leading and respected authorities on personal finance. Patricia holds the designation of Certified Financial Planner and is a regular commentator for Business News Network, CTV, CP24 and the National on CBC. Patricia is the host of MoneyTalk, a national prime-time television program on personal finance, airing every Monday at 8:00 pm (ET) on Business News Network and offers daily market commentaries on radio stations such as AM 740 and 680 News.

A sought-after speaker and commentator on wealth management, Patricia has co-authored the national best selling books, Get Real: 26 Canadian Women Share the Secret to Authentic Success, Live Well, Retire Well: Strategies for a Rich Life and a Richer Retirement and Retirement Strategies for Women. Other publications include Surprise! You're Wealthy: A Woman's Guide to Protecting Her Wealth, as well as Take Charge Now: A Woman's Guide to Personal and Family Finance.

In June 2010, the Board of Directors of Humber College awarded Patricia with an Honorary degree in Applied Studies. This is the highest award the institution can bestow. For her outstanding contribution to the profession of financial planning in Canada, The Financial Planners Standards Council (FPSC) recognized Patricia with the 2009 Donald J. Johnston Award. The Women's Post named Patricia as one of Canada's Top 35 Women to Watch on their 2008 Women of the Year list. As well, Patricia was named to the 2007 Canada's Most Powerful Women: Top 100™ Award in the Trailblazers and Trendsetters category.
